

Turntable Ride

There is a ride at the Transportation Museum called the Turntable Ride. It is a large platform that spins around in a circle. The ride is outside and it may be hot and have smells from the cars, trains, and other machines. There will be loud noises such as screeching and banging. It is okay, just part of the ride.

When you get on the ride, there will be someone giving important safety instructions. You must keep your hands on the YELLOW bar and your feet on the LIGHT wood. Stay close to your parents and use walking feet.

Keep your hands on the yellow bar and your feet down on the light wood until the ride is finished and you are told to let go.

Use walking feet when leaving the turntable ride. Check your schedule to see “What’s Next?”
